FOLIAGE PLANT

This is one Hosta you will want to add to your collection. The uniquely shaped leaves add a new dimension to the shade garden. This large, spreading Hosta has white flowers and blue-green, very rounded foliage that is deeply cupped with a puckered texture. The backbone of many shade gardens, Hostas are ideally grown grouped under trees, rambling through shrubby borders, as an edging plant, groundcover, or specimen plant. Combine with Astilbes and Ferns for a textured garden display. Ideally grown in partial shade to shade in rich, moist to well-drained soil. This plant is hardy in zones 3-8.
