HEAVEN'S GATE COREOPSIS

FULL SUN | HEIGHT 18" | SPREAD 24"++ | ATTRACTS BUTTERFLIES | GREAT FOR POTS | BEDS & BORDERS

I often recommend planting coreopsis to gardeners who have a sunny, dry location. Heaven's Gate features rose-pink petals with a darker rose-red ring surrounding a golden center. The small, daisy-like flowers bloom in June to August and attract songbirds and butterflies to the landscape. Shear back the faded flowers for a fresh flush of blooms and foliage. This coreopsis has a vigorous, clump forming growth habit that makes a dense groundcover in the wildflower or naturalized garden. The finely divided, fern-like foliage gives an airy appearance in perennial beds and borders or in containers. Grow this perennial in full sun in rich, well-drained soil. It is hardy in Zones 4-9.
