If you're looking for fascinating foliage in your shade garden, Painter's Palette is one of the best. The brown, yellow, and chocolate-red foliage produces tiny, dark red, beady flowers on slender, wand-like stems from July to September. Red midribs and stems add to the showy foliage and the flowers attract butterflies to the garden. This plant is beautiful against a backdrop of conifers, in the border garden, woodland garden, or used as a cut flower. Plant the spreading clumps in a confined area or in decorative containers to keep the growth under control. Grows in average, moist to well-drained soil in full sun to part shade. Feed with a liquid or slow release fertilizer. Hardy in Zones 4-9.
