This is one of the easiest and most prolific asters I have ever grown! The clusters of old-fashioned, double lilac colored blooms have the curious habit of starting to bloom upright in mounds, then blossoming on horizontally spreading branches. This fast growing aster provides long-lasting color in perennial borders, rock gardens, and in mixed patio containers. Use the nectar rich flowers to attract birds and butterflies to the garden. Farmington has very mildew-resistant foliage and thrives in full sun in average, well-drained soil. It is hardy in Zones 3-9.
