Perovskia atriplicifolia 'Little Spire' PP#11643

RUSSIAN SAGE

FULL SUN | HEIGHT 24-30" | SPREAD 18-24" | AROMATIC FOLIAGE | DRIED FLOWER | BORDER GARDEN

I find this plant has a more upright and compact growth habit, making it a preferred choice in the garden. The aromatic, gray-green foliage produces extravagant spikes of violet-blue flowers in August to September. Little Spire has fine, deeply serrated leaves that give it an open, airy texture. It makes a superb filler plant to mix with other perennials, like purple coneflowers or black-eyed susans, in the border garden or in sunny rock gardens. Use in dried floral arrangements. Thrives in average, well-drained soil in full sun and is a moderate to fast grower. Hardy in Zones 4-10.
