GARDENING EXPERT MELINDA MYERS LAUNCHES NEW AND IMPROVED
WHAT'S BLOOMING PHOTO GALLERY ON WEB SITE
ADDING GALLERIES TO SHOWCASE LANDSCAPE MAKEOVERS & SUNFLOWERS

Milwaukee, Wis. – April 15, 2008 – Nationally known gardening expert, TV host and author Melinda Myers has added Landscape Makeovers as well as a Sunflower gallery to her popular What's Blooming photo gallery found on www.melindamyers.com, which also features an entire section for people to showcase their most wondrous blooms.

“The Landscape Makeovers section is a great place for individuals and landscape companies to share their most spectacular accomplishments,” said Myers. “And for visitors to my site, it’s a place to come and get ideas that they can apply to their own yards.” To go directly to the landscape makeovers gallery, click here.

The Sunflower gallery was designed to encourage families and their kids to get outside, dig in the dirt and grow. A sunflower is the perfect flower to introduce a child to gardening. It starts easily from seeds indoors or right outside in the garden or a pot. Add a bit of water as needed and watch it grow and progress each day. Myers has a starter kit for kids – it’s free and fun. Simply email your request with address to info@melindamyers.com. Then once you have your sunflower, you can post your pictures and your progress directly on Melinda's web site. Now that spring has sprung, let’s get out and grow and showcase your accomplishments!
